Encyclopedia of Conscientiology: A Study of Everything

The Encyclopedia of Conscientiology is a group of books that contain countless entries embracing the wide universe of the consciousness. Using the approach of the neuroscience of Conscientiology, the main objective is to help the intraphysical consciousness in the satisfactory accomplishment of its existential program.

This work will gather the discoveries (findings) that researcher Waldo Vieira has accumulated throughout his life, since the formation of his specialized library, in 1941. According to Vieira, the Encyclopedia of Conscientiology, generally speaking, is the study of everything (Everythingology), given that universal reality functions for the consciential principal in evolution.

The Encyclopedia is being created by using dozens of original techniques, among which are the techniques of association of ideas from the cosmogram, which follow the orientation of day-to-day facts for the accomplishment of the research.

Some of the entries written by Waldo Vieira for the Encyclopedia have already been published in the Conscientia magazine. The Encyclopedia's activities and techniques have inspired several researchers in the accomplishment of their own investigations, stimulating the elaboration of works that may also be disseminated by this magazine.

An example of this is the project Research of the 50 Themes of the Encyclopedia of Conscientiology, performed by IIPC in partnership with CEAEC, in the first semester of 2002, which originated several works on themes of the Encyclopedia, some of which will eventually be published in Conscientia.

The following are brief comments on this edition's articles.

The article Cutaneous Autography analyzes the manifestation of the intraphysical consciousness who writes by hand on some part of its own body with ink. It is important in showing the universe of facts associated with an apparently simple consciential action that, however, involves a lot of subtlety and implications that come to light in relation to the characteristics of the consciousness responsible for the act. This is an example of an entry that will constitute the Encyclopedia of Conscientiology, related to the specialty of Somatics and to graphothosenes.

The article Invisible Colleges of Conscientiology defines these non-institutional organizations of consciousness researchers, it approaches their essential characteristics and it analyzes the perspectives of these colleges for the scientific development. The present article brings a contribution for the establishment of these colleges that constitutes a theme of great relevance for the consolidation and expansion of Conscientiology activities as a science.

In Holocyclo: Mentalsomatic Factory, the author makes an analysis of her collaboration in the Holocyclo, evidencing that the research techniques used at this laboratory of the Mentalsomatics area contributes to the development of consciential attributes and awareness.

Joint Projection is the report of an experiment done in the Thosenology Laboratory that exemplifies the possibility of kindred consciousnesses to extraphysically experience joint occurrences. The registered facts contribute to the casuistry of Projectiology and to Experimentology research.

We hope that this edition will add a bit more to your consciential micro-universe.
